HILES NEWS

Gun hunting season will be upon us in a couple of weeks, and it looks like the weather is getting ready for that as well. Below zero temperatures along with snow were present this week, along with a bitterly cold wind. Even saw someone in the ditch on Saturday morning by the corner of Highway 32 and Mitchell Platt Road after a couple of inches fell during the previous night. A possibility of freezing rain is in the forecast for this week on a couple of days. It makes you wonder what our winter will be like this year.

Upcoming events are the Annual Chili dinner at the Lutheran Church in Hiles on Saturday November 18th. Stop over after 5 PM and see old friends and hear new hunting stories!

On December 2nd is the Hiles fire Department Annual Christmas Dinner. Bring a dish to pass and see if Santa thinks that you have been naughty or nice this year! Everyone is welcome to attend!

On February 3rd is the Hiles Fire Department Fisheree. I guess it's not too early to start planning that far ahead, right? Because then in only a couple of months more, hopefully spring will be here. I've heard rumors that people are ice fishing already, especially as we've already had some below zero temps. Just remember to play it safe on the ice this early in the season, especially if we do end up getting some of that rain.

Have a great week all!
